New Pocado Family Features?

News

By Roberta Schroer

ARE THESE UPDATES TRULY WORTH THE HASSLE

Streaming platforms such as Pocado are bound to evolve as they attempt to keep up with consumer demands. Not everyone will be satisfied, a given fact since pleasing everyone is impossible. When change is inevitable and out of your control, do you allow it or attempt to go against it? If it is to do with a social media platform, would you attempt to change it back to how it previously was?

Pocado, a live streaming app, is operated by DeNA, a Japanese company who provides mobile portals and e-commerce websites. This platform offers a range of features, "Family" being one of them. A Pocado Family is essentially a fan group made to support a broadcaster with a member cap of 100. Once you join, you gain access to view the creator's Rank Meter and Family rankings. These groups are straightforward and simple, so how will the platform change them?

With pre-existing knowledge of current features, here are the changes coming this month. Previously, broadcasters were allowed multiple Families with certain levels. Now, however, a single broadcaster has one no matter the level, and said Family have a member limit up to 300 (100 members at level 10+, 200 at level 25+, and 300 at 80+). Assistants, those who essentially moderate these fan groups, scale with level as well. Starting at 5 at level 10+, 10 at 25+, and 15 at 80+. Due to Pocado limiting a broadcaster to only 1 Family, they will add a feature allowing each fan group to have up to 20 channels, depending on the creator's level.

Notification settings will be changing with chat features. With several channels being added to a singular Family, it is comparable to Discord servers in terms of channel settings. You can turn off the option of receiving notifications for a specific channel, and leave others on. Not only that, but you will be allowed a "mark as read" option, for those of you who prefer not to read messages you may have missed.

If you already have multiple Families, how will that transfer over? Well, because there was a limit to 300 per Family chatroom (up to 3), the members will be transferred to one Family. However, the other two Family's members transfer from will be deleted. After this update, chat logs from previous Family's will be inaccessible, so to those who want to save memories, you are advised to screenshot or record.

These aren't necessarily big changes looking at the bigger picture, but it is, however, it is very different from what users are used to. The format of these Family's will change drastically, though when it comes to functionality, it's not dissimilar to the usual that users are used to. In our Pocado forum, let us know how you feel about these changes. Are they for the better, or would you prefer how the features are currently?

HAS SOCIAL MEDIA CHANGED THE WORLD?

DATA FROM THE IB SOCIAL MEDIA SURVEY

How often (Approx.) do you use Social Media?

No matter what it is for, change is inevitable; there is nothing that anyone can do to stop it. Over the hundreds of thousands of years, there have been many changes that have benefited us as well as many that have not. However, there are actually some things that have positive AND negative outcomes. Social Media is one of those. First, understand that social media is a BIG part of how we do things next benefit is Reach. There are over 7.98 Billion people on the earth and currently 4.70 Billion use social media in some form. This is helpful to the business world as they can reach out directly to consumers, helpful to the political world as they can pursue voters, and helpful to our society so we can stay connected with the “Now”.

Of course we can't leave out the disadvantages. Unfortunately, social media is a big... No, that's not the right word... HUGE... Nope, let me try again... ENORMOUS today. No, this won't be a history lesson about social media, but let's explore the benefits and disadvantages of social media.

Everywhere you look, it is actually weird to NOT see someone on their phone or computer on Facebook, Instagram, YouTube, or Tik Tok. Why? Because social media has become prevalent to society today. Even the fact that you can find out information by a quick search as compared to the hours or even days of research from a book back then tells you the impact that the internet has. This leads me to tell you the first benefit- Availability. It's way too easy to surf the web and stay connected. The swirl of Fake News, Propaganda, and Clickbait- This isn't even all of the negative things. Because of the Pro-Availability & Reach, it is also very easy for people, especially teens & young adults, to see the "Perfect Life" online. Celebrities with 30 lamborghinis, 3 mansions, closets full of the latest name brand shoes, and still showing off Millions of dollars. Women who have those "Perfect" figures or skin that make the girl with the smallest pimple call herself ugly. There is this facade of a way of life that diminishes too many people. This also leads into Cyberbullying, which is deliberately using digital media to communicate false, embarrassing, or hostile information about another person.

Don't get me wrong, I love going on social media to catch up with friends who live back home or to stay up to date on the channels of my favorite YouTubers. But, even though it's a strong word, I hate going online to network on streaming platforms and see people degrade me because I don't share or gift them fast enough. I hate seeing people put themselves down because they can't "Keep up with the Joneses". What things do you like and dislike about social media? Let us know in our Forums.

SOME TIPS TO HELP YOU BECOME A BETTER STREAMER!

THIS MONTH'S TIP: CHOOSING A PLATFORM (POCOCHA)

Pococha is a newer live streaming platform from Japan that hit the US in 2021. Along with the 20 POCOTOMO Characters, this app should keep you busy and stay with the fun. Once you sign up, you are brought to the feature board where you can watch other broadcasters (Or see those you follow at the top of the screen). Upon joining a stream, you will have an “N” next to your name indicating that you are a new user. You can share the stream to your friends and family, comment and talk to the broadcaster, spam the likes (the heart button), and send fun gifts. But, what does all of this mean?

There are many ways to support the broadcaster; you can share the stream by clicking the icon on the bottom left or send gifts by clicking the present box on the bottom right- Here you can meet the POCOTOMOs like Quacky, Leo, and Pinky as most gifts feature them. Sending a broadcaster a gift will give you the equivalent amount in XP towards your level and give the broadcaster the equivalent in ENGAGEMENT diamonds, which they can convert for coins or real money. (As a broadcaster, you can also earn TIME diamonds by hitting time goals). Green, Blue, and Red Pocoboxes, which give free coins, will unlock with time when you are in the stream, but be sure that you are active in the chat otherwise the countdown will freeze. Once gifts are sent or when other users join, click the Clap or Welcome button next to their name to congratulate them and keep activity in the chat. If you click on your name, you will see certain requirements (coin based, time based, or comment based) that will show how much Fan Noise you will gain in that broadcaster's Stream. Fan Noise shows your total engagement in a broadcaster's stream during the month, and when you reach certain tiers, you then become a Core Fan. Now let's flip the perspective.

When you are live, you have what's called a Rank Meter. This meter shows your comparison to other streamers of the same rank. The higher you level up, the more privileges you gain on the platform. Everyone starts as E rank but can go as high as S rank and depending on where you place in the percentage with other streamers, you can gain up to +2 Rank Points. Try to place on the top of the leaderboards for fantastic prizes.

There is so much to do on Pochocha and they are always adding new features. Be sure to check out their Blog to see their updates or see more of the basics Here. In the Infinite Broadcasting Forum, we also have a space for our users to learn about Pochocha. Feel free to ask questions and start discussions there.
